

DAVID V. BUSH is credited with the little ode below, entitled Think Before You Speak: Suppose a neighbor has gone wrong? Think before you speak! Each life must have some saddened song. Think before you speak! You may have a grief some day That will lead your feet astray; Then you'll bless the tongues that say "Think before you speak!" A neighbor's boy has "got in bad"; Think before you speak! Recall his loved ones, shamed and sad. Think before you speak! Some day your own son may fall; Scorn may push him to the wall; Then your heart will fill with gall— Think before you speak! If some poor girl has slipped in woe, Think before you speak! Say no harsh word to weight the blow. Think before you speak! Scarlet letters yet may be Hung upon your family tree; Let us have all charity— Think before you speak!

A HAMLIN WOMAN went into a photographers studio over at Stamford the other day and asked him to enlarge a picture of her late husband. She gave explicit instructions and concluded by saying, "And, for goodness' sake, take off that awful looking straw hat."

The photographer considered for a moment and then commented: "Hmmm, I think I can do that. What color hair did he have, and what side did he part it on?"

Gazing around him anxiously he mopped the perspiration from his brow.

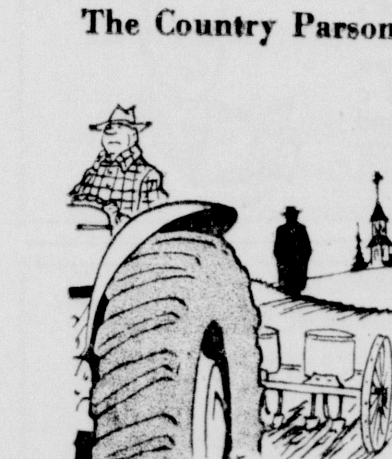

"What can I do for you, sir?" inquired a pretty girl clerk.

"Would you mind if I just talked to you for a few minutes?" he said. "I don't want to buy anything—I just want to talk to you."

"Anything! Anything!" said the unhappy man, desperately. "You see, I've lost my wife somewhere in this crowd and I can't find her. But if I talk to a pretty girl she will be sure to turn up!"

Several Bales Due To Be Ginned in Area This Week

First bale of 1959 cotton in the Hamlin territory was brought to town Monday morning by Wayne Hodnett, farming three miles southeast of town.

This August 24 bale was five days later than the 1958 first bale, which was brought in by O. L. Cohorn of the Dovie community, east of Hamlin. First 1957 bale was brought in by a Sylvester farmer. First 1956 cotton was harvested by W. J. Madden from his farm eight miles west of Hamlin. The 1955 first bale was harvested by W. J. Waddle on August 14, and the 1954 first bale was brought in by J. A. Harden on August 15.

The 2,050 pounds of seed cotton gathered by Hodnett from about 10 acres ginned a 466-pound bale and netted 900 pounds of cottonseed.

The first bale, ginned by Hamlin Farmers Cooperative Gin, of which Watts Fletcher is manager, was of fair middling quality. The bale had not been officially graded Tuesday.

Cotton from which the Hodnett first bale was picked was planted on April 30. He was expected to gather several more bales this week, estimated that 12 to 15 bales were ready.

U.S. OIL

Indispensable in our way of life... vital to our national defense

In the 100 years since the drilling of the first oil well in the United States, the usefulness of petroleum has been often demonstrated in many ways . . . It is an economical and efficient source of energy and a raw resource convertible through petrochemistry into innumerable useful materials. . . . It is indispensable in our way of life, and vital to the national defense.

It is comforting to know that today's reserves are ample for today's needs. And if incentives to undergo the heavy risks involved are continued, there is no doubt that more oil will be discovered and produced to replace the oil we use . . .

The United States has found, produced, refined, and used more oil than any other nation. This has made petroleum products a feature of the abundant American life. Americans use more petroleum products than any other people on the globe.

The past is prologue to the future. During its second century, oil can serve you and your grandchildren, and the nation, as well or better than ever before.

Reba Fay Roland Becomes Bride of Bonham Man in Sunday Church Rites

In an impressive double ring wedding ceremony Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist Church, Reba Fay Roland became the bride of James Kenneth Scott of Bonham. The rituals were read by Rev. Harry Scales, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church in Abilene.

The bride, a native of Hamlin, is the daughter of Oley D. Roland and the late Mrs. Roland. Young Smith's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith of Bonham.

The vows were repeated before an altar centered with a candle flanked by a white trellis of English ivy and candelabra with white candles, and baskets of white gladioli. The pews were marked with candles, satin streamers with English ivy.

Mrs. Henry Albritton, aunt of the bride, played wedding music and accompanied by Beverly Ward of Fort Worth, soloist, who sang "Through the Years," "I Love Thee" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Matron-of-honor was Mrs. Joe E. Rosenbaum of Fort Worth, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Claire Rogers of College Station and Rosemary Wallace of Fort Worth, college friends. Jan Albritton of Hamlin and Donna Lynn Thurman of Anson, cousins of the bride, were candle-lighters. Best man to the groom was Richard Gross of Bonham, a college friend.

Ushers were Glenn Buckingham of Gainesville, Joe Cappleman of Bonham, Don Brewer of Bowie, college friends, and Joe R. Rosenbaum of Fort Worth, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride's dress was an original gown of chantilly lace over satin. Her illusion yoke was detailed with lace flower medallions, and her long fitted sleeves tapered to petal points over her wrists. The pointed bodice dipped into the full overskirt of lace. Her bouffant skirt was scalloped over double net ruffles touching the floor. A finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a gold Bible that her sister had carried topped with white gardenias encircled by stephanotis and English ivy leaves on satin streamers.

Inside the gold Bible was a white lace handkerchief belonging to the bride's mother.

The matron-of-honor and bridesmaids wore identical dresses of emerald green silk organza over taffeta, princess styled with scoop necklines which expelled a sheer panel of flowing organza in the back. They wore matching shoes, white gloves, and chin length veils of matching green net. They carried identical arrangements of gold leaf English ivy in S shape.

Grandmother of the bride, Mrs. W. A. Albritton of Hamlin, wore a beige lace dress with black accessories and white rose corsage. The mother of the groom wore a navy blue imported Egyptian voile dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride graduated from Hamlin High School in 1956 and from North Texas State College at Denton in 1959. She was a member of Delta Gamma social sorority, Angel's Flight, and Green Jackets, service organization at North Texas State.

The bridegroom graduated from Bonham High School in 1956, and will graduate from North Texas State College in January, 1960, after completing student teaching. He was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Man is that foolish creature who does work he doesn't like in order to get things he doesn't need.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Lee Lankford and Mrs. Joe Norton of Hamlin are parents of the bridegroom.

Preceding the ceremony, organ music was presented by Carolyn Swigart. "At Dawning" and "Whither Thou Goest" were sung by Mrs. Ryndell Russell, soloist. As the couple knelt on a white prayer bench at the close of the rites, the bride's brother, Wales, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Matron-of-honor was Mrs. Jim Fry of Seiling, Oklahoma. Bridesmaids were Dot Clark of De Queen, Arkansas, and Mrs. Don Fitzgerald of Wichita, Kansas. Jan Smart of Altus, Oklahoma, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

The bridegroom's sister, Elizabeth Norton, and Lynn Carr of Norman, Oklahoma, lighted wedding tapers.

John Norton attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Ronald Orr of Anadarko, Oklahoma, and Ronald Barlow of Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Wales Lankford. She wore a floor length gown of nylon organza over taffeta. The rounded neckline of the fitted bodice was outlined with hand-clipped chantilly lace encrusted with iridescent and seed pearls. Side panels with appliques of lace accented with iridescent and pearls enhanced the bouffant skirt. Her finger-tip veil of illusion was caught to a crown of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with a white orchid.

Bridal attendants wore gowns of dusty rose cotton satin with bateau necklines. Overskirts were of pale pink nylon organza. They wore matching pink ribbon head-dresses and carried pink and white feathered carnations in cascade arrangements.

The reception which followed the wedding was in the church annex. The bride's cake was iced in pale pink with rose trim to match the attendants' dresses.

The bride's travel costume consisted of a black sheath with bolero jacket trimmed in white. Her hat and accessories were black, and she wore a corsage of gardenias.

The bride is a graduate of Hennessey, Oklahoma, High School and of Bethany Nazarene College, where she was listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges and was a member of Phi Delta Lambda honor society.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Hamlin High School and of Bethany Nazarene College. He was listed in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges, was vice president of the Student Council and a member of the Students National Education Association.

After a brief trip to Kansas City, Missouri, the couple will be at home in Golden, Colorado, where he will teach in the Pleasant View Elementary School.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

Austin—Texas will have a virtual "government on wheels" for the last part of this month as 31 state agencies pick up their filing cabinets and move into the new state office building.

This is the second new headquarters building to be completed this year. First to be occupied was the new Texas Employment Commission building, completed only a few weeks ago.

Transferring into the new state office building undoubtedly will be the biggest move of state agencies since horse-drawn dray-wagons moved the government into the present capitol building in 1888.

First to move will be a host of commissions, boards and divisions which have been in rented quarters scattered over Austin.

Later, probably October or November, another big move will take the Supreme Court, Court of Criminal Appeals, attorney general's department and Supreme Court library out of the capitol into the new state courts building.

It has been the dream for some time of the Supreme Court's elderly Chief Justice John E. Hickman to stay on the job until the day he could preside in the new courts building.

Built of granite similar to that in the capitol, but with modern styling, the new buildings are to the north of the capitol. Combined cost of the two buildings is some $7,000,000.

With all the happiness over the prospect of splendid new quarters, there are some regrets. Many employees are worrying about where they will park their cars once all the scattered agencies move into one building.

Supreme Court jurists feel a touch of sadness at leaving behind the historic walnut bench, inscribed with the Latin phrase, "As God to our Forefathers, so may He be unto us." It has been in use practically since the memory of man. Replacement is a handsome marble piece which the judges compare to a soda fountain.

Progress and Property.—A tingle of excitement, fear and hope runs through land-owners and business people when they learn that a new super-highway is to come through their area.

Some residents fret over the prospect of losing the old home place. Others dream of wild profits. Business men worry whether the motorists will be able to get to their places.

As more and more expressways pierce the countryside, the State Highway Department is making every effort to explain the procedures for acquiring highway right-of-way.

Samples from recent official department statements:

1. Although its first responsibility is to the public—the taxpayers and millions of highway users—the highway department "tries to create a minimum of private injury or inconvenience."

2. When private lands are needed for public roads, the law guarantees "adequate compensation" to the owner. Independent professional appraisers are hired, and an "approved value" figure determined.

3. Once the "approved value" is settled on, the department negotiator cannot "horse trade" with the land-owner. This might reward the greedy and tough-minded at the expense of the timid or public spirited person. But a dissatisfied owner can have the matter settled in court.

4. When part of a piece of property is taken and the rest left isolated or of little value, the state will make payment for the loss of value.

5. Owners will be given ample time to move buildings to another site or find new buildings.

6. If an owner with a GI mortgage has to sell, the Veterans Administration will restore his GI loan privileges for getting a new piece of property.

7. An owner who sells property for more than he paid for it will not have to pay income tax on the profit, providing he uses the money to buy similar property within a year.

8. Controlled access highways cannot have an entrance and exit for every piece of property along the way. Real estate developers are urged by the department to contact the local planning engineer before making any commitments based on access to the through lanes of a controlled access road.

Water Fight Due.—State Board of Water Engineers has scheduled a hearing for August 31 on the City of Houston's controversial bid for Trinity River water.

Houston seeks permission to build two reservoirs near the mouth of the Trinity, one near Livingston and one near Wallisville, and divert more than a billion gallons daily.

Trinity River Authority and a number of upstream cities—Fort Worth, Dallas, Huntsville, etc.—are protesting that Houston is trying to grab the water supply from the whole river.

Slow Up with Holiday.—With Texas' 1959 traffic deaths running six per cent higher than last year, Governor Price Daniel issued an urgent safety plea to Labor Day motorists.

He called on law enforcement agencies, civic organizations, safety councils and "most important of all, drivers, to help in this most important of all Texas efforts, the saving of human lives."

Department of Public Safety

reported traffic deaths for the first half of 1959 at 1,097, compared to 1,032 for the same period in 1958.

Short Snorts.—Texas range and pasture land is in the best condition since 1941, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Good winter feed prospects for cattle are predicted. . . . Texas construction activity for the first half of 1959 totaled $1,123,332,000, an increase of 11 per cent over last year. . . . A 1959 pecan crop of 27,000,000 pounds is forecast for Texas by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This would be slightly better than the 26,000,000-pound crop in 1958.

... Governor Daniel has appointed Otha F. Dent of Littlefield to a new six-year term on the Board of Water Engineers. Dent is a former Lamb County judge. . . . J. T. Ellis Jr., former administrative assistant to Governor Daniel has been appointed the top non-medical administrator for the State Department of Health. Ellis is a one-time state representative from Weslaco.

County Agent Points To Huge Damage by Rats and Mice in Area

At $20 per rat per year and $5 per mouse, it doesn't take long for our damage losses to really pile up! It's easy to see how it would pay to get rid of these pests, says Kirby Clayton, county agent.

Rats and mice destroy and contaminate much more than they eat. They spread diseases and filth, and one of the most common diseases attributed to rats is typhus. Rats have fleas which carry the disease organism, and these fleas sometimes get on man.

One good way to fight rat and mouse populations on your farm is to use anti-coagulant poison baits. You must be extra careful with this poison, though, because it affects all warm-blooded animals.

Anti-coagulants prevent the clotting of blood, which causes internal hemorrhages and death. It takes five to 15 days for the poison to take effect, but the pests keep eating until it is too late. They never suspect they are in trouble.

CHILDREN PAY BIG. Traffic accidents, the National Safety Council says, injure 150,000 children five to 14 years of age each year.

Jones County 4-Hers Attend Workshop on Good Record Keeping

Twenty Jones County 4-H Club members attended the 4-H Club record book workshop in the county extension agents' office last Thursday at Anson, according to County Home Demonstration Agent Mary Y. Newberry and County Agent Kirby Clayton.

Mrs. Newberry gave the group pointers on assembling 4-H records, and Clayton gave a talk on fundamentals of record keeping.

Mrs. A. H. Roberts, local adult 4-H Club leader, gave a brief 15-minute talk on the importance of record keeping and the state and national awards which 4-H members may win with their records. At 10:30 the group was given an hour and half swimming instruction on how to swim at the Anson swimming pool by Curly Hayes, with the West Texas Utilities Company. . . . Nine of the 4-H members learned how to swim during this instructor period.

Those attending the record workshop and swimming instruction class were Betty Roberts, Phyllis Roberts, Martha Garrett, Don D. Jones, Beverly Garrett, Sandra Garrett, L. C. Middleton, Larry Middleton, Danny Harber, Mike Holloway, Stanley Harvey, Mrs. Frank Agee and children, Merrick Harvey, Mrs. Howard Roberts, Mrs. Cliff Garrett, Curly Hayes and the agents.

SPEED IS BIG KILLER. Speeding is the main fault of teen-age drivers in accidents, National Safety Council records show.

Insect Infestations Taper Off As Crop Nearing Harvest

Spotted infestations of fleahoppers continued to cause some damage on the South Plains, according to the fourteenth weekly cotton insect condition report released this week to The Herald by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the plant pest control division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The report continues:

Bollworm and boll weevil infestations were also spotted throughout the state with some heavy populations of weevils noted in the North Central and Central areas. Cabbage looper infestations were mostly light over the state. Cotton leafworm and pink bollworm populations did not develop into any serious infestations. Grasshoppers and aphids were noted locally.

In the report on the Northwest Texas area, of which the Hamlin section is a part, the following was noted: Fleahopper infestations were light to heavy in Wilbarger County and heavy in Motley and Mitchell Counties. Boll-

Hamlin Invaders Set Final Baseball Game For Season Sunday

Hamlin Invaders, colored baseball team captained by Buddy Haley and managed by Andrew Sparks, took the third in a series of three games from the Graham Eagles Sunday afternoon at the Pied Piper diamond by a 7 to 3 score. Each team had previously won a game.

F. C. Anderson, pitcher for the Invaders, had a no-hit, no-run record in seven innings. Then wild throws by Third Baseman Willie B. Jones in the eighth let two men get on for the Graham crew. John H. Chase went to the mound and the Eagles put over three runs.

The Invaders made their seven runs on nine hits, eight walks and two errors.

Sunday afternoon at 4:15 the Invaders will play their last game of the season, either with a crew from Roby or the Aspermont white team of the Brazos Valley League.

worm infestations were light in Mitchell and Motley Counties; light to medium in Wilbarger County.

PREACHING Sunday at both worship services at the First Baptist Church, in the absence of Interim Pastor Byron Bryant who is in a revival meeting at Aspermont will be Rev. J. Henry Littleton (above) of Breckenridge, former pastor of the local church.

Changes in Grid Rules Explained At Lions Luncheon

Major changes in the football rules for high schools of the area the forthcoming season were explained by Jack Russell when he provided the program feature of the regular weekly Lions Club luncheon at the oil mill guest house Tuesday at noon.

Russell is one of the approved football officials for Central West Texas, and is a member of the West Texas Football Officials Association, which supplies referees, umpires, judges and head linemen for high school games for the region.

Principal changes in rules for this season, as compared with last year's rules, are the change in distance between the goal posts for kicking goals; and altering of foul limits that reduce the maximum penalty to half the distance to the goal line, Russell said. He gave a few other minor changes in rules. Russell further explained a referee's instructions to team captains before game time. He also said that officials usually have a lengthy conference before each

Christian Scientists to Conduct Services at Gordon Home Sunday

Regular lesson sermons are scheduled to begin in Hamlin Sunday under auspices of the Christian Science group, according to Mrs. Louis R. Gordon, at whose home the lessons will be conducted weekly, beginning at 11:20 a. m. The local group hopes to make the service a regular occasion.

Christ Jesus' triumph over material laws of limitation established the supremacy of God's unchangeable law. This is the theme to be set forth at the services Sunday in the lesson sermon entitled "Christ Jesus." Included in the Bible references to be read is the account in John 6 of Jesus' feeding of 5,000 men with five loaves and two fishes.

The public is invited to attend the services at the Gordon home, 250 North Central Avenue.

Announcing New Owners - - - FOR THE FORMER Teague Implement Co.

In a transaction completed last week the former Teague Implement Company, which had been in operation since 1950, was purchased by Weldon Carlton, long-time hardware merchant and farmer of the Hamlin area. The firm, which will continue to operate in the same stand on East Lake Drive, will henceforth be known as the Carlton Implement Company.

Previously the John Deere Agency was held by the old Bryant-Link Company. The late Tom Teague took the agency in 1950, and since his death in 1957 the place has been operated by L. C. Bonds. Weldon Carlton is happy to become the successor to these old time merchants.

Following inventory and some straightening around, we will be ready to serve the farmers and ranchers of the area with sales and service of the famous John Deere line of Tractors and Implements. We welcome you in to see us.

A. B. Carlton, well known to people of the Hamlin section, will be our parts man, and our Service Department will be ready to function within a few days.

Clarence Johnson, Former Hamlinite, To Get Degree After Late School Start

Most folks of today believe that it pays to get an education—but not many people will wait until they have passed the half century mark to do something about it. Still, Clarence Johnson, former Hamlin man, is destined to realize a life-long ambition of getting a college education, come next June!

You might say that Clarence Johnson and his wife of 811 Cleveland Street, Fayetteville, Arkansas, are gamblers. At an age when most folks are thinking of retirement, the couple sold their property and staked the entire price against a university education for him.

Actually it was the Johnson children who mapped out the move to send Clarence Johnson, 51-year-old resident, back to school. When the Johnsons were raising their children at Hamlin they trained them to retain an interest in each other's welfare. Dennis, the oldest, was graduated from Hamlin High School shortly before the family moved to Mansfield, Scott County, Arkansas, eight years ago. Anita, his younger sister, finished high school at Mansfield, and Dennis insisted that they work until she was through the University of Arkansas.

At the end of Anita's junior year, Clarence Johnson felt he could manage to keep both Dennis and Anita in college the following year without Dennis' help. So Dennis enrolled at the university. In addition to operating a small farm he owned, Clarence had labored at various jobs through the year. He had been a clerk, mechanic, aircraft worker during the war, and at the time was a farmer and butcher.

At the close of Dennis' junior year he came up with the idea that his father should enroll at the university. Clarence Johnson countered with some good argument: He had not completed high school; he also had no money to educate himself. Dennis was persistent. Why not sell the Johnson farm and use the money to support the family and keep both himself and his father in the university for a year? By that time, Dennis insisted, he would have his degree and be ready to start teaching. Dennis then could support the family until his father earned his degree.

Meantime, sister Anita had received her master's degree from the university, taught two years in a high school, and had served as a student teacher at the university for one year—all before she was 24 years old. She had married and was working toward her PhD degree in Oregon, where she then lived.

Anita agreed with her brother that Papa should go back to school. If Dennis found it financially tough going, he and Clarence could both fall back on her.

When Mr. and Mrs. Johnson agreed to the plan, they sold the Mansfield farm and moved into a rented house near the campus in Fayetteville. That was in September, 1957. Dennis was a senior when Clarence entered the UofA as a freshman. Larry, the younger Johnson son, enrolled as a freshman in the Fayetteville High School.

The hardest thing about re-entering school at 51, says Johnson now, was adjusting to going to school. His grade point average, which has risen steadily each semester, is evidence of the good adjustment Clarence Johnson has made. He was on the honor roll both semesters last year.

By attending summer school both summers, he expects to receive a degree next June.

Clarence Johnson, majoring in industrial education, admits that entering the university at his age does have some assets. He feels that maturity and experience help him refrain from undue worry about subjects and grades. Worry, he thinks, begets poorer grades.

Practical experience has eased him over many rough academic spots. Dennis, meantime, has entered the elementary teaching field. He teaches at a Navajo Indian Reservation in Arizona, only a few miles from Ship Rock, New Mexico.

Clarence Johnson hopes to teach in West Texas or New Mexico to be nearer his and his wife's brothers and sisters, after he receives his degree.

The gamble that the Johnsons took may soon be paying off, they think. The Johnsons don't think what they've done has been a gamble at all—they look at the situation as an investment.

Our Cotton Crop Is Looking Fine...

We have a wonderful cotton crop in the Hamlin territory this year—one that will bring needed revenue to the finest bunch of farmers in the world who are really deserving of some breaks following several years of drought.

But lots of things can happen—some of which the farmers can help, some they cannot (such as hail and other acts of Providence).

One of the disastrous that can be greatly alleviated is devastating damage by cotton insects. Let's be alert to these pests right up until the end of the cotton harvest. Keep fighting the insects—and get the most from the wonderful cotton crop we have!

Prospects for HHS Football Squad Fair, Says Coach

Prospects for a strong football team at Hamlin High School this season are fair, declares Head Coach D. C. Andrews, after last week's grid camp staged at the Pied Piper stadium that recorded an attendance of 36 boys.

With 13 returning lettermen from last year's squad reporting, a good delegation of boys from the B squad and freshman team are bolstering grid hopes, Andrews says.

Returning seniors boys are Ken Prewitt, Tobe Shields, Victor Criswell, Sam Hodges, Richard Winegart, Steve Stephens, Durwood Boyd, Dwight Griggs and Tommy Bonds. Returning junior lettermen are Michael Bond, Robert Brandon, Gary Williams and Gary Cooper.

Co-captains for the 1959 Pied Piper squad were elected first of the week by the team members. They are Ken Prewitt, Sam Hodges and Tobe Shields.

Assisting Coach Andrews with the griders are Jimmy Vaughn, line coach; Neil Laminack, who also works with the B team; and Ed Farmer, who also works with the freshman crew.

Special Meeting Of BCD Directors Called Thursday

Special meeting of the board of directors of the Hamlin Board of Community Development has been called for this (Thursday) evening at the BCD office in order to appoint committee members and an executive committee to act quickly in emergency in putting into action President Fred B. Moore Jr.'s plan for community betterment. The plan was outlined at last week's regular meeting of the board by Moore.

The meeting was called in an effort to step up activities and shorten the length of time required for official action.

Moore said: "In order for the BCD to act on pertinent matters, it is necessary that we have an executive committee that will have the authority to act for the official board of directors. This will permit the organization to act quickly and efficiently in carrying out its plan for community improvement."

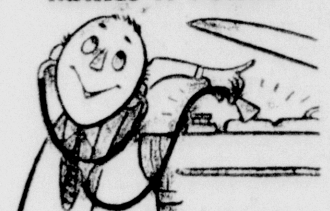

Other committees will be chosen from the BCD membership list and will be orientated at a series of meetings scheduled for the different committees, Moore added.

Also on the agenda Thursday evening will be a discussion on the need for city water at the newly dedicated riding arena north of town. The arena was built by the newly organized Hamlin Riding Club headed by Dr. Elmer J. Hawkins, president.
